四、閱讀測驗【請依照段落上下文意，選出最適當的答案】

It was a steamy afternoon in New York City. I was heading to my hotel. As I stepped onto a bus, I was greeted by the driver, a young man with a warm smile. "Hi! How are you doing?" He greeted each passenger in the same way.

As the bus moving slowly through traffic, the driver gave lively commentaries: there was a terrific sale at that store a wonderful exhibit at this museum had you heard about the movie that just opened yesterday? By the time people got off, they had shaken away their gloomy shells. When the driver called out, "So long, have a great day!" each of us gave a smiling response.

The memory has stayed with me for nearly 20 years. I consider the bus driver a man who was truly successful at what he did.

Contrast the driver with Jason, a straight-A student at a first-rate high school who aimed at getting into Harvard

Medical School. When a physics teacher gave Jason a lower-than-usual grade on a quiz, the boy believed his dream was broken. He took a knife to school, and in a struggle his teacher was stabbed in the shoulder.

How could someone of obvious intelligence do something so foolish? The answer is that high intelligence quotient (IQ) does not necessarily predict who will succeed in life. Experts agree that IQ contributes only about 20% of the factors that determine success. A full 80% comes from other factors, most importantly your emotional intelligence (also called emotional quotient or simply EQ), which is made up of qualities like self-awareness, mood management, impulse control, self-motivation, and people skills.

(2)21. What is the main idea of the passage?

- (1) Bus drivers in New York City are not emotional.
- (2) EQ is a major factor that determines success.
- (3) Getting straight A's in school equals to having high IQ.
- (4) High IQ guarantees success.

(3)22. According to the passage, which of the following statements is true?

- (1) People skills are not relevant to EQ.
- (2) IQ contributes about 80% of the factors that determine success.
- (3) It takes more than academic smarts to be a success.
- (4) Jason never got a good grade in Physics.

(4)23. How was the weather in New York City when the author met the bus driver?

- (1) stormy
- (2) cool
- (3) dry
- (4) humid

(2)24. According to the passage, which field did Jason aim to study in college?

- (1) electronics
- (2) medicine
- (3) law
- (4) business

(1)25. Which of the following is suggested by the passage?

- (1) Emotional Intelligence is a factor that determines success.
- (2) People with high IQ are also emotionally intelligent.
- (3) Jason's foolish behavior is caused by low IQ.
- (4) The bus driver failed to cheer up his passengers.
