三、克漏字測驗【請依照段落上下文意，選出最適當的答案】

第一篇：

There are at least two different versions of the origin of the Buffalo wings, although they contain the same basic facts. The first plate of the tasty chicken wings in orange sauce was served in 1964 at a family-owned establishment in Buffalo called the Anchor Bar. The wings were the invention of Teressa Bellissimo, who 31 them in her own special sauce and served them with a side of blue cheese and celery because that's what she had available. In 1980, Teressa Bellissimo's husband, Frank, told the New Yorker that the wings had been invented out of 32 : the bar had accidentally received a shipment of wings (instead of other chicken parts) and didn't know what to do with them. However, Bellissimo's son, Dominic, disputed his father's story. Dominic claimed that the wings were a midnight snack Teressa created on his 33 : he had been drinking with friends and asked his mother to whip up something for them to eat. The stories don't necessarily 34 each other—perhaps Teressa decided to serve her son some of the extra chicken wings from the mistaken shipment—but all three Bellissimo family members have since passed away, so it's 35 to prove which version is correct.

第二篇：

The idea of a soul or spirit that is associated with personal identity and consciousness is common throughout the world. In the Eastern cultures 36 there is a belief in some non-physical part of a human being, there has been the belief that the soul or spirit will eventually become absorbed or extinguished and there will be no survival of individual consciousness or identity. However, in Western cultures there is the idea of the survival of the soul or spirit. It originated at times when the average life expectancy was very 37 compared to what is the case today. Perhaps the idea of a survival in some form after death was 38 due to the brief and often very difficult life encountered by humans. Such a belief in survival of personal identity and consciousness provided a number of very positive results. There would be hope for a future life 39 the present life and devoid of problems. There would be concern to live a proper life so as to secure the promise of the better life in the next world. There would be the hope that 40 would prevail if not in this world then in some other, where the good would be rewarded and those who broke some moral code would be dealt with appropriately, even punished.

四、閱讀測驗【請依照段落上下文意，選出最適當的答案】

第一篇：

Getting your kids involved in golf at an early age could set them up for success in all aspects of life. Golf is a great way to get the kids physically active in a safe environment. And the benefits go beyond physical fitness—it can benefit their mental and emotional development as well as help develop social and emotional skills that will last their whole lives.

There are several important benefits of golf for kids' health and physical fitness. First of all, golf promotes overall physical fitness. Playing golf strengthens the spine and core muscles, and it can encourage children to try other sports and activities. The physical skills they learn in golf, such as hand-eye coordination, can carry over and help them succeed in other sports and develop lifelong healthy exercise habits. Second, golf is a low-intensity and non-contact sport. A low-intensity workout is great for kids as it won't over-burden their small, growing bodies. This low-impact activity still provides vital exercise that promotes overall health. Golf courses are safe, positive spaces, and the sport is gentle, with little chance of major injury. Unlike other popular kids' sports such as football and hockey, where there's a higher chance of tackling injuries, golf is a relatively safe sport for kids to play. Golf also cultivates a love of nature. The game gets kids outside, breathing in the fresh air and enjoying the sunshine. Most golf courses are carefully maintained and beautifully landscaped, allowing anyone who plays to enjoy the beauty of the trees and flowers on-site, as well as a wide variety of birds and other animals that live in and around the courses. Most importantly, playing golf benefits vision. One of the consequences of our modern era with computer screens, video games, and smartphones is that kids are developing nearsightedness at a higher rate. A natural way to combat this is with regular outdoor activity and to focus on objects farther away. Golf is a great way to accomplish both of these, helping this issue and preventing the development of nearsightedness in children.

(3)41. What is the second paragraph mainly about?

- (1) Why playing golf helps children succeed in career
- (2) The physical and mental benefits of golf for children
- (3) How golf benefits children physically
- (4) Golf as a great way to improve children's vision

(2)42. Which of the following is NOT mentioned in the passage as a benefit of golf playing for children?

- (2) Golf helps children know more successful people.
- (3) Golf promotes a love of nature.
- (4) Golf can prevent nearsightedness in children.

(4)43. What can be inferred from the passage?

- (1) Computers and smart phones can help children learn better in school.
- (2) Playing sports benefits children's health but not social skills.
- (3) Golf is a non-contact sport, so children will not get COVID playing golf.
- (4) Some golf-related skills can be useful in other sports as well.

(1)44. According to the passage, which of the following is the best for children's health?

- (1) Spending time in nature and enjoying sunshine
- (2) Planting trees and keeping birds as pets
- (3) Taking lessons on improving social skills
- (4) Becoming a member of a fancy beach club

(3)45. Where can the passage most likely be found?

- (1) A newspaper editorial on raising competitive children in modern America
- (2) A research paper comparing the effects of golf and other sports on children's physical development
- (3) A brochure of a club that offers golf lessons for children
- (4) A textbook on sports and children's emotional well-being

第二篇：

Face coverings as a way of protecting our health go back at least 2,000 years. The Roman philosopher Pliny the Elder used animal-bladder skins as masks to filter dust while working with toxic minerals. In China there is evidence of similar face coverings in the Yuan dynasty. In his travelogue written during this period, the Italian explorer Marco Polo described servants of the Chinese emperor wearing silk scarves to cover their mouths and noses to prevent their breath from contaminating the food they prepared. By the early 14th century, the Black Death had prompted widespread use of facial coverings. Another outbreak in the 17th century led to the invention of the beak mask by French doctor Charles de Lorme. Covering the entire face, the mask had glass portals so the wearer could see, and the beak was often filled with spices to filter out disease. Artist Leonardo da Vinci soaked cloth in water and placed it on his face to prevent toxic chemicals from paint and plaster from entering his lungs. People trying to escape a burning building are still advised to do so to protect their lungs from the effects of smoke inhalation. The discovery of the presence of bacteria in the air by Louis Pasteur made people aware of the dangers of breathing in harmful pathogens. Therefore, doctors asked people to wear cotton masks to limit contagion during epidemics. Fashionable women also wore lace veils to protect their lungs from harmful airborne particles. In the early 20th century, Wu Lien-teh, a public-health specialist, developed a mask from layers of cotton with ties so that it could be hung on the ears. This was the prototype from which the masks used in medicine today developed. In 1905 Chicago physician Alice Hamilton measured the bacteria from healthy doctors and nurses when they talked or coughed, leading her to recommend masks during surgery. Her recommendations led to widespread use of protective masks for surgeons and nurses.

(2)46. What is the best title for the passage?

- (1) How Face Masks Change Our Lives
- (2) A Brief History of Face Masks
- (3) Why People Prefer Face Masks to Veils
- (4) Face Masks and Modern Life

(4)47. Which of the following is true?

- (1) Face coverings started out as a fashion statement.
- (2) Face masks may cause more air and water pollution.
- (3) Cotton masks do not protect people from harmful bacteria.
- (4) Bacteria may come out of healthy people's mouths and noses.

(1)48. What can be inferred from the passage?

- (1) Protective masks have been worn by surgeons and nurses for more than 100 years.
- (2) People did not know there were bacteria in the air until COVID appeared in 2019.
- (3) The first medical mask was invented by an artist.
- (4) Face coverings were first used by servants of Chinese emperors.

(1)49. Which of the following is most closely associated with the modern version of medical masks?

- (1) Wu Lien-teh
- (2) Leonardo da Vinci
- (3) Louis Pasteur
- (4) Marco Polo

(3)50. According to the passage, which of the following is NOT mentioned as a purpose of wearing face coverings?

- (1) Infectious diseases will not spread as quickly.
- (2) Bacteria will not hurt the patient in surgery.

(3) Fashionable ladies will not need to show their faces in public.

(4) Toxic chemicals will not be breathed in by artists working with paint or plaster.
